

Autotrack On Demand MobileComm

MobileComm

What is Autotrack On Demand Mobilecomm?

Today more than ever, enterprise IT must be agile and respond to changing business demands. Applications and services that meet these requirements, and the ways they are consumed, are significantly different than in the past. Interfacing in between software in IT can be easy but complicate process especially for the process involve daily continuous operation. Mobilecomm know about the need and important of retrieving and passing data from and to customer ERP system. Mobilecomm design in order to transforms your daily costly, hard to manage and complicated data processing activity to seamlessly unattended process. With the connection between your mobile devices and your existing ERP solution, your receiving process from supplier can be ready in a split of second.

Key Benefits

- Reduce Infrastructure Complexity
- Reduce communication risk
- Increase store and purchaser productivity
- Deliver instant data
- Rapidly respond to high demand operation
- Improve operational efficiency
- Improve business agility
- Lower total cost of ownership
- Totally eliminate human intervention

